Administrative Systems, Inc. Achieves AMC Institute Accreditation

Downers Grove, Illinois, February 20, 2007 -- Administrative Systems, Inc. (ASI) has been awarded accreditation by the AMC Institute, having met the ANSI/AMC Institute Standard of Good Practices for Service, Quality and Excellence. In 2003, ASI was one of the first ten association management companies (AMCs) in the world to achieve this distinction.

AMC Institute's accreditation program was launched in 2002 after the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) approved AMC Institute's standard. The standard is an American National Standard, recognized specifically by ANSI as the standard for the association management company industry. The standard is the basis of AMC Institute's accreditation program, which is the most demanding and comprehensive in the association management company industry.

Achievement of this program demonstrates that ASI has invested significant resources to meet the requirements of the AMC Standard. ASI's clients can be assured that they are partnering with an association management company that operates with the highest level of professionalism and responsibility.

The accreditation program is a voluntary process that requires written documentation and an independent audit verifying that ASI meets or exceeds the Standard's requirements for accounting procedures, appropriate contract review and transition procedures, appropriate and adequate insurance coverage, written record keeping procedures, and proper employee recruitment and training programs. Achievement of this accreditation demonstrates ASI's commitment and ability to deliver consistent, quality services.

Founded in 1981, ASI is a full-service association management company based upon the mission to provide superior management and administrative services to professional societies, trade associations and foundations.
